Enhancer Software Core

Free-of-charge download from Amisphere.com

24th Decemeber 2022

A-EON Technology Ltd is pleased to release an update to the Enhancer Software Core

The new update is free of charge download available from Amisphere.com

Version 2 contains the latest version of Software Development Kit, gadgets and classes required to make applications for the Enhancer Software.

What is the Enhancer Software Core?

It is a free-of-charge stand alone version of the Enhancer Software.

The Core edition contains classes, libraries and system files for users who have not purchased any version of the Enhancer Software previously. It also contains the Software Development Kit for developers to build their own projects using the features of the Enhancer Software components.

The files contained in it are essential to run any applications, utilities or programs created with the Enhancer Software. By being free of charge download, it enables developers to create their software using elements of the Enhancer Software Core. Developers can release their software with confidence that users can access these without having to purchase the commercial version of the Enhancer Software.

Use of the Core components in third party development projects has given A-EON further incentive to upgrade and continue to enhance the package.

We look forward to developers taking advantage of the wide range of extra features that the Core Gadgets and Classes offer. Suggestions, feedback and feature requests will be given consideration for future updates to this package.
